

SimCorp Market Trends

After 13 years working alongside SimCorp to find the best talent on the market, Skillfinder became one of a select few accredited partners — opening up the opportunity to work with both the vendor and end clients across North America, BeNeLux, DACH and APAC.

Current Trends

High international demand has required a significant focus on global candidate relocation, given the scarcity of SimCorp expertise. Recent placements have spanned Belgium, Norway, Singapore, North America and Australia — with none of the candidates being local to those markets.

With permanent and contract roles offering strong training opportunities, candidates who embrace continuous learning greatly increase their market value. The 'Alternative Investments Manager' module is in particularly high demand following the 2018 upgrade rollout, mirroring how the 'Performance Manager' module drove demand the year before.

Future Trends

More clients are moving towards full ABOR and IBOR consultants covering multiple modules. This does not signal the end of module-specific roles — highly skilled candidates will always be needed as SimCorp continues expanding its solution and more consultants are required to help end clients keep pace in this fast-moving space.
